

SUPREME WAR COUNCIL GREED ON A TERRITORIAL AND FINANCIAL PROBLEMS OF THE PEACE PLANS

Coroner's Jury Recommends That Ralph Ardary Be Held For Murder of His Cousin

By FRED S. FERGUSON

PARIS, March 19.—The speed up program of the peace conference was in full swing today. Committee sessions and meetings of the Supreme War Council this afternoon were making good progress in drafting the terms of the preliminary treaty with Germany. It was the belief of officials today that the treaty would be ready March 29, and probably be submitted to the Germans three days later. It was announced today that Versailles has been definitely selected as the site for the signing of the treaty.

By FRED S. FERGUSON

PARIS, March 19.—The Supreme War Council was expected to reach a final agreement today on territorial and financial questions of the preliminary peace treaty. The conference yesterday was presided by President Wilson, Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau. Italy and Spain were not represented because the matters discussed did not directly affect them. The session which lasted from 8 to 5:30 p. m. was described as satisfactory.

By FRED S. FERGUSON

The big powers it was learned today are practically agreed regarding the financial affairs. Nearly all the final bill for reparations must be based on what Germany will be able to pay. The details of the indemnities will be based on a very low figure.

League Plan Progressing

Members of the League of Nations committee which will be incorporated in the preliminary pact. A bill was sent in all neutral countries to have their recommendations for changes and amendments ready for presentation at the special session of the League sub-committee tomorrow.

Japan Presses Peace Problem

Japan intends to press its decision for the measure which is designed to establish equality of peoples and establish the right of racial equality. This was intimated by Baron Makino and Viscount Genda when they called on Col. House yesterday. They intimated after the call that there was so much talk recently over the League that they merely desired to learn more about the question in which they are interested.

BOOST BUSINESS SAYS OFFICIAL

Washington, March 19.—Extensive advertising campaigns throughout the country will put business on its feet and relieve the present stagnation, D. W. Babson, director of the Information Service of the Department of Labor declared today. Babson has sent a statement to the big business men of the country urging advertising as a means of ushering in an era of prosperity.

MINE EXPLOSION AT VALLEY CAMP

Valley Camp, March 19.—Mine inspectors and deputy coroner arrived here from Pittsburgh today to investigate an explosion in No. 1 mine of the Valley Camp Coal company, yesterday which resulted in the death of three miners. The explosion is believed to have been caused by a blow-out shot igniting a gas pocket.

CLEARFIELD GIRLS LOSE TO TYRONE GIRL CHAMPIONS

The Clearfield girls journeyed to Tyrone last evening where they met and played, perhaps the best or champion girls basketball team of United States. The Tyrone College girls who have been playing basketball from five to seven years outplayed the Clearfield girls on Tyrone Y. M. C. A. gym floor. In the second quarter, the Clearfield center, Miss Beish, was thrown into the net from which she sustained an injury to her knee. She had to discontinue playing and Miss Bailey was substituted for her. The Clearfield girls had the honor of scoring the first field goal on the Tyrone girls team this year. Miss Barratt scored the field goal and Miss Geppert made 2 foul goals out of seven tries.

The referee, an old experienced Y. M. C. A. physical director (Paul Neff) was fair and square, calling six fouls on Clearfield and eight on Tyrone. The Clearfield girls played a good game and were treated and respected as ladies by the audience and players. There were no eggs thrown.

Miss Geppert starred for Clearfield inasmuch as she guarded Miss Waple, their star college player, and did not allow her to score a single field goal the first half.

On Friday evening, March 28, the Clearfield basketball fans will have an opportunity to see the Tyrone college girls play the Clearfield girls at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The Tyrone girls have not lost a single game either at or away from home, having defeated such teams as Lock Haven Normal and Indiana girls. The Clearfield girls will try and defeat them when they play at Clearfield.

The score:
Tyrone F. Barratt
Clearfield F. Pooler
Arnold F. Miss Beish
Snyder C. Smith
Keohane G.
Parsons Geppert

Field goals: Tyrone: Waple 3, Arnold 3, Snyder 5, Keohane 1, Parsons 2. Clearfield: Barratt 1, Foulie, Miss Keohane 2, out of 6. Miss Barratt 0 out of 1. Miss Geppert 2 out of 7. Referee Neff. Scorer Overly. Time-keeper, Smith.

WETS WILL HAVE BILL TOO

HARRISBURG, March 19.—With the Fox bill which provides a method of enforcing prohibition, and the resolution providing for the submission to the people of an amendment to the constitution providing for equal suffrage, that body faces a busy period. Chairman Bungard of the House law and order committee said today that as many hearings as are necessary will be granted to those who want to be heard. The House held a short session today adjourning for the week. The Senate adjourned for the week yesterday. Advocates for the repeal of the Sunday blue laws permitting Sunday concerts and moving picture shows appeared before the House judiciary committee today, the Philadelphia orchestra being part of the demonstration made.

The leaders of the lobbyists' interests in securing advance in the salary of teachers of the state are trying to arrange for a conference with Governor Sproul with the hope that an administrative measure will be the result of the conference.

HARRISBURG, March 18.—A prohibition enforcement act, prepared by the Anti-Saloon League, has been introduced in the House by Representative Arthur R. B. Fox, of Philadelphia. The bill was prepared by J. Day Brownlee, counsel for the Anti-

AMERICAN MORTALS

ALAN LOUIS EGGERS, Sergeant, M. G. Co., 107th Infantry.

Unusual bravery displayed in aiding comrades in distress near Catolot, France, September 20, 1918, won the Distinguished Service Cross for Sgt. Eggers. Becoming separated from their platoons by a smoke barrage, Sgt. Eggers, Sgt. John G. Latham and Corporal Thomas E. O'Shea took cover in a shell hole well within the enemy's lines. Upon hearing a call for help from an American tank, which had become disabled thirty yards from them, the three soldiers left their shelter and started toward the tank, under heavy fire from German machine guns and trench mortars. In crossing the fire-swept area Corp. O'Shea was mortally wounded, but his companions, undeterred, proceeded to the tank, rescued a wounded officer, and assisted two soldiers to cover in the sap of a nearby trench. Sgt. Eggers and Sgt. Latham then returned to the tank in the face of the violent fire, dismounted a Hotchkiss gun and took it back to where the wounded men were, keeping off the enemy all day by the effective use of the gun, and later bringing it, with the wounded men, back to our lines under cover of darkness. Sgt. Eggers' home is at 152 Summit avenue, Summit, N. J.

HARD COAL MEN TO SEE SPROUL

By United Press
Harrisburg, March 19.—Anthracite coal operators of the state will hold a conference with Governor Sproul in this city tomorrow afternoon, and the pending action for investigation of the cost of coal will be held up until after the meeting. The conference was arranged for today by Allen C. Dodson, secretary of the Anthracite Coal Operators' association to whom Governor Sproul yesterday addressed a letter relative to the coal industry.

WHAT SAY YOU, BROTHER?

Washington, March 19.—Revenue officers were frankly at a loss today as to how to combat the move of New York brewers to resume the manufacture of beer containing .0275 per cent. alcohol. If such beer is intoxicating it is illegal to make it under the government order against the use of food stuff in the manufacture of intoxicants. Brewers say .0275 per cent. beer is not intoxicating.

FINDS HIMSELF CHARGED WITH MURDER WHEN HE READS THE PAPER

Mineola, N. Y., March 19.—Dr. Walter K. Wilkins, wanted for the murder of his wife, telegraphed District Attorney Weeks from Baltimore today saying he would soon arrive here to testify before the grand jury. Wilkins said in his telegram that he did not know there was a murder charge against him until he read the morning papers. He added that he was starting immediately for Mineola to tell all he knew of the case.

FREE SEEDS FOR DISTRIBUTION BY THE PROGRESS

The Progress has received from Congressman Evans J. Jones a limited number of packages of garden seed for distribution in this section. The packages contain beet, cucumber, lettuce, radish and tomato seeds, sufficient for an ordinary garden. As stated, the supply is limited and the packages will be given out to the persons first applying. These packages will not be given to children except upon a written request from their parents. The seeds were packed for sowing in the spring of 1919 according to the announcement on the package, therefore it is believed that they are better than the usual run of government seeds.

CHIEF SADLER REPLIES TO QUERIES

Building Evidence By Large Number Of Visitors

IN ANSWER READY FOR ALL

HARRISBURG, March 18.—The interest of Pennsylvanians in securing ornamental highways is evidenced not only in the visits of hundreds of citizens during the last few weeks, but by the receipt of scores of letters in every mail, bearing on different phases of the road situation in Pennsylvania.

H. L. R. Anderson of Jackson Center, Mercer County, has written the Highway Department asking a number of questions, the answers to which are of interest in the state generally. He queried: "Is it the intention of the Highway Department to use a part of the $50,000,000 bond issue to construct State-aid highways? Are State-aid roads to be constructed now a part of the Sproul system? Are roads to be constructed by counties from moneys obtained by the bond issue now a part of the Sproul system, or may they be constructed any place in the county selected by the commissioners and the people?"

The reply of the Highway Department contained the following information:

"No portion of the proceeds of the $50,000,000 bond issue will be used in the construction of State-aid highways, this class of highways being constructed from money appropriated for that purpose by the Legislature. "The majority of State-aid roads to be constructed with the aid of counties and townships will form a part of State Highway routes. However, this does not mean that only such roads will be taken up for State-aid improvement, for this is a matter entirely within the option of the Commissioners of the several counties, as to where their preference lies.

"The bond issues of the several counties will be expended at the discretion of the county commissioners. There are a number of counties, however, which have agreed with the State Highway Department to make the expenditure of State Highway Routes with the understanding that upon the completion of the work the

The result of the coroner's investigation into the death of Lawrence E. Ardary at the George W. Ardary home in Lawrenceville, Pennsylvania, this afternoon of March 11th, was given today with the findings of the jury that the death of Lawrence E. Ardary was caused by the shooting of Ralph Ardary, his cousin, and heard the testimony of the witnesses in the case. The verdict of the coroner's jury is as follows:

"CORONER'S INQUIRY: Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, County of Clearfield.

An Inquisition taken in Lawrence Township, Clearfield County, and State of Pennsylvania, at farm house of George W. Ardary, the late Lawrence E. Ardary, the body of Lawrence E. Ardary, who died on the 11th day of March, A. D. 1919, in the County of Clearfield, State of Pennsylvania, by the coroner of the County of Clearfield, Pennsylvania, to-wit: J. I. Pollum, M. D., Coroner.

Charles Howell, Sheriff, and Alfred Jones, the undersigned men of Clearfield County, charged to inquire of the part of the Commonwealth, where, and by what means, the said Lawrence E. Ardary came to his death, upon their respective oaths or affirmations, and that it appears from a view of the body and the evidence produced before them that the said Lawrence E. Ardary came to his death, March 11, 1919, at 5:45 P. M. at farm house of George W. Ardary as a result of a gun shot wound in the head, received about 1:00 P. M. in the barn on the farm of George Ardary, deceased, the jury being unable to determine in their minds absolutely as to whether the shooting was done by Lawrence E. Ralph Ardary, but believe the evidence sufficient to recommend the holding of Ralph Ardary for further investigation on the part of the District Attorney.

In Witness Whereof, the aforesaid Coroner, as well as the said Jurors, have to this Inquisition set their hands and seals this 12th day of March A. D. 1919.

(Signed) Dr. J. I. Pollum, M. D. (SEAL) Coroner. Clair Lytel (SEAL) Philip Bowles (SEAL) Charles Cunningham (SEAL) Charles Howell (SEAL) James Demi (SEAL) Alfred Jones (SEAL)

Following this recommendation County Coroner J. I. Pollum, of DuBois, who conducted the investigation in his official capacity, made an information this morning before Justice Chorpennin in which he formally charges Ralph Ardary with the murder of Lawrence Ardary. The warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff F. S. Gulland. Ralph Ardary was arrested at the home of his sister, Mrs. George S. Jones, at her home in the Third Ward of Clearfield at 10 o'clock.

The wound in Ralph Ardary's arm has healed rapidly and he was discharged from the Clearfield hospital yesterday afternoon.

The accused was given a hearing before Squire Chorpennin.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY FARMERS UP-TO-DATE

UNTIRING EFFORT MADE SOIL FERTILE

NEGLECTING CARE OF FARM BUILDINGS

MRS. FARMER NEEDS GOOD LOOKING HOUSE

To say that Clearfield county farms are as good as any other farms would be deliberate flattery though it is very evident that our soil, under proper attention and cultivation will yield a crop or crops which compare favorably with any other county in the central, northern or western part of the state. Aside from the farms in Lancaster and York counties and some others in the eastern part of the state we are on a par with our state neighbors so far as the fertility of the soil is concerned. Our farmers have learned to surmount the obstacles set up by nature and, while their farms are of larger acreage, by intensive cultivation have selected certain plots in their farms which they have caused to yield abundantly. To say that the farmers of Clearfield county are not progressive is disproven by one glance at the farms which have been cleared, stumped and cultivated, up hill and down, and are now producing the food stuffs on which we live.

Every encouragement should be given the farmer to continue his studies and his work to bring his farm up to even a higher standard. Without a continuance of this progressive spirit Clearfield county agriculture will not keep pace with the balance of the state and therefore not come in for its full share of spotlight from the Commonwealth. The economic independence of the citizens of Clearfield county depends largely on the progressiveness of its farmers and the productivity of our soils. Any community which must depend entirely on its neighbors for their foodstuffs is at a tremendous disadvantage.

In one way alone are the Clearfield farmers backward in a manner which is detrimental to their best interests. This is in the care and attention they give to their machinery, their barns, houses and outbuildings. It is possible and probable that the attention they must give to their farm precludes the possibility of giving more attention to these matters but it is to their financial interest to do so. It is not for us to criticize the farmer but simply to give our impressions as the result of extensive travel in farming communities and from a study of the economic side of the question.

Farm machinery, when not in use should be stored in a good building or water tight shed and a generous application of oil, grease and paint will add years to the life of it. Some farm yards look like a junk heap and in the majority of instances it is not worn out equipment but rather neglected machinery which has rusted and corroded to such an extent as to become useless.

Barns are allowed to crumble down and become eyesores to the community. While many of the barns in the eastern part of the state sport a coat of paint our barns are given no paint protection from the elements and consequently are shorter lived than their eastern neighbors; not worn out but rotted down. Many a farm is for sale but not marketable because of the dilapidated condition of its buildings. A coat of paint and yearly attention to repairs would have kept the farmer on the place. Many farmers get discouraged when after years of effort to make their land tillable their buildings totter to pieces.

Mrs. Farmer has some rights too, and it is surprising that she has not rebelled at living in a house of the same color as that which houses the old grey mare and the suckling calf. Painting the house will greatly increase the value of the farm, brighten the life of the good farmer's wife and add to the general improvement of community conditions. Try it in your community and see if the sun will not shine brighter on the labor of the day.

ARDERY MYSTERY IS TO BE CLEARED UP BRINGS TO MIND THE ROCKTON AFFAIR

The Ardery case will go down in history in Clearfield county as one of the puzzling tragedies of this generation. Although it bids fair to being solved by the unraveling process of the criminal court, it has for two weeks been the principal topic of conversation in this community. The evidence in the case is being carefully guarded and little is known as to the nature of the charges against the accused son and cousin, but the county officials are understood to be quite positive that they have a clear cut case and sufficient supporting evidence to obtain conviction. The trial will make interesting reading, especially to the people on the "ridges" who were tentative travel in farming communities and from a study of the economic side of the question.

Arderys and who have closely followed the affairs of the family who were respected residents of the community. Feeling runs at high ebb and the accused has many friends as well as those who point to him as the guilty party. Naturally no one rejoices at the prospect of conviction of the crime of murder but every citizen rests easier to know that the authorities have been sufficiently active to start the machinery of justice moving. The so-called Ardery mystery brings to mind the Rockton mystery when the Caldwell boy disappeared never to be found again. The solving of that puzzle will make another interesting chapter in our criminal history which we would like very much to read.

GET THIS MATTER STRAIGHTENED OUT

The State Highway Department on Monday last advertised for bids for the construction of State roads in some fifteen counties of the State. Nothing was done toward getting work started on Route 59 through Clearfield county for the reason, we are told, that many of the property owners along the route refuse to sign the release of damages prepared and required to be signed by the State before any advertisement of same will be made.

The release prepared by the Highway Department is objected to because of its "blanket" character. It covers release for all damages occasioned by change of route, etc., and the property owner being unable to determine just where the improvement road will be located through his property, hesitates to sign up.

This condition could be quickly eliminated by local highway representatives going on the ground and mapping or pointing out the proposed route for the benefit of those who refuse to sign until this is done.

We understand the County Good Roads Association is working on this proposition now and hope for an early settlement of this difficulty so that a start can be made on road building in this section in the near future.

U. S. NAVY TO MAKE TRANS-OCEAN FLIGHT

Washington, March 19.—Plans for a trans-Atlantic flight by an American sea plane are being made. Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt stated today. The flight is expected to take place sometime after May 1. Lieut. Commander Patrick L. Bellinger has been ordered from Norfolk to Washington in connection with the preparations for the flight. Roosevelt stated. No orders have been issued for the flight itself. Roosevelt stated that it was not likely that the flight could take place earlier than May. The plans are for a line of destroyers along the route of the proposed flight 200 miles apart. The seaplane equipped with radio would be in constant communication with these destroyers thus insuring virtual safety for the crew and the scientists who will be aboard for observation.

Saloon League, who brought it to Harrisburg.

In its definition of "intoxicating liquors," the bill does not specify that a beverage may contain a certain percentage of alcohol. The act does not contain a "possession" clause; that is, it does not declare that possession of liquor by individuals shall be prohibited. Neither does it contain a "search and seizure" clause, although its advocates say the following provisions of the measure cover that point:

"Any building where intoxicating liquor is manufactured or sold in violation of the law is declared to be a nuisance and the person maintaining it guilty of a misdemeanor."

Before Mr. Fox introduced the bill officials of the Anti-Saloon League made public the following digest of the measure:

"The definition of intoxicating liquors, according to the wording of this act, 'shall be construed to mean all vinous, distilled, malt, spirituous, fermented or alcoholic liquor and all alcoholic liquids and compounds, whether proprietary, patented or not, which are potable or capable of being used as a beverage, and all mixtures, compounds and preparations, whether liquid or not, which are intended when mixed with water or otherwise, to produce by fermentation or otherwise any alcoholic or intoxicating beverage.'

"Section 4 reads as follows: 'It shall be unlawful for any person directly or indirectly to manufacture, sell, transport, receive, deliver, possess, barter, solicit or take orders for, give away or furnish any intoxicating liquors on or after the 16th day of January, 1920, except as hereinafter provided.'

"The law makes provision for the sale of intoxicating liquors for chemical, mechanical, industrial, medicinal, scientific and sacramental purposes. The control of manufacture and sale of liquor for these purposes is committed to the Attorney General of the State. He is authorized to issue permits to a limited number of persons to manufacture it. He is also authorized to issue permits to druggists to sell it for permitted purposes.

"Druggists who desire to sell liquor for permitted purposes shall in their application pledge themselves to strict obedience to the law, make affidavit to the same and give bond in the sum of $3000. No license fee is charged, but each druggist pays a fee of $1 for his permit.

"Druggists may sell upon the prescription of reputable physicians and to hospitals, laboratories, dentists, physicians, manufacturers, etc., to be used only for permitted purposes. "Druggists are required to keep record of all sales and purchasers must make oath as to the intended use of the liquor.

"All containers of liquor must bear a label indicating that it is intoxicating liquor, by whom sold and for what purpose.

"It shall be unlawful to advertise liquors by any means whatsoever, or any compounds or tablets from which any intoxicating liquor may be made.

"It shall be unlawful for any person to induce any common carrier to transport liquor without notifying the carrier as to its true nature.

"No liquor may be transported except the container bears label indicating the contents and the name and address of the shipper. Violation of this act by any common carrier is a misdemeanor.

"Drinking in public places is made an offense against the law. "Persons found intoxicated can be brought before the court and compelled to testify as to where they procured the liquor, and if they shall refuse they shall be held in contempt of court.

"The penalties provided for violation of different sections of the law are so arranged that wide discretion is given to the court. Penalties for a first offense consists of light fine or brief imprisonment or both. In case of violation of several different sections of the act the penalty becomes cumulative."

Undoubtedly the "wets" in the House will immediately introduce a counter measure, defining intoxicating liquors as beverages containing more than a specified percentage of alcohol. The liquor men have planned to introduce a bill protecting the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. They have been waiting a move by the dry forces and, therefore, it is likely the liquor fight will start all over again in the House within the next fortnight.

SAYS HOT WATER EACH DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY

Drink glass of hot water before Breakfast to wash out poisons

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. White you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, rheumatism; others who have swollen skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

The County National Bank OF CLEARFIELD

The Oldest Bank in Clearfield County

The Same Old Hun

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright 1919 by United Press)
Berlin, Feb. 26.—By Mail.—Three months' careful study of Germany, following the signing of the armistice, forces the conviction that neither war from without nor revolution from within has worked any psychological metamorphosis of Germany as a nation, or of Germans as individuals. Neither the strength nor the weaknesses of the German people, evidenced any transformation. The minds which accept and apply the terms of peace will differ but little from those which steered the successful course of the German empire up to August, 1914.

The revolution has changed the form of government. It has not changed the governed. The war has brought to Germany defeat, disaster and destitution. It has not brought despair, nor humiliation. A half-dozen speakers at the National Assembly in Weimar voiced the general feeling of the people when they said, in effect:

"We have not been defeated militarily. Hunger and the revolution forced us to quit. We accepted President Wilson's Fourteen Points and demobilized voluntarily, according to the provisions of the armistice."

The foreign office's policies and the attitude of its individual secretaries are unchanged; its personnel is practically the same as before the revolution, though the officials all profess to be democrats. Now they claim they opposed the war, especially employment of "fraternalism."

Count Bernstorff is considered by many well-informed Germans to be the man who is really running the foreign office with his cousin, Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, chief in name only. The Germans feel that Brockdorff-Rantzau's speech outlining the nation's foreign policy marked a new era in diplomacy because he stated frankly what the Germans consider modest. These included retention of the German colonies, a plebiscite for Alsace-Lorraine, reparation for German war prisoners and reparation for damages only.

Ostensibly, the censorship was removed with establishment of the present government. Yet priority of new dissemination is still preserved as an exclusive and monopolistic privilege of the Wolf Bureau, which was the semi-official propaganda agency under the old regime. Foreign newspaper correspondents' dispatches are held up six hours after the same information is obtained by Wolf. This guarantees to that organization the opportunity of giving the world its first and therefore its strongest, impression of any internal German situation. No German making the first pretense at frankness will attempt to create the impression that the disastrous results of 1914-1918 have created any deep-seated aversion to militarism among the German people. Men and women, both in and out of government circles, talk very casually of another war of revenge against France if Alsace-Lorraine is taken from Germany. They refer to this possibility as though it is to be accepted by everyone as a logical matter of fact.

Imperialistic, even monarchistic, utterances during the National Assembly meetings have stirred up no opposition from the delegates, except the radicals. For instance, Count Czadowski, conservative leader, defended Bismarckism. He advocated re-establishing the old regime, which he called the most benevolent and advanced government in the world. The delegates, save for a few radicals, listened blandly while Czadowski declared that a monarchy is the best form of government.

In addition to the Wolf Bureau's influence on foreign propaganda, there is now a new government department which is daily furnishing the people with inspired epigrams through the press. The theme of this propaganda is: "There has been no revolution in Germany—just a new form of government." With the exception of government organs, the press refuses to take the National Assembly very seriously.

A number of younger employees who joined the government through idealistic motives are switching to the radicals, believing that a real revolution is coming when the industrial workers and soldiers' councils decide that their expectations are not to be fulfilled. These elements are thoroughly organized and refuse to relinquish an iota of their power, though a representative republic has been founded, because they apparently mistrust the motives of the coalition leaders.

The situation in Germany, without doubt, is critical as regards food, industry and finance, but this does not seem to have effected any radical change in the psychology of the general public. Public opinion throughout the country does not fix the guilt for the war upon Germany; nor upon the ousted ruling class. It does not acknowledge German military defeat. Germans believe they are in their present position because—as their propaganda tells them—their idealism led them to lay down their arms and trust Wilson.

OBITUARY

ROY M. BISHOP

The funeral of Roy M. Bishop was held at his late home on South Fourth street, on Wednesday, March 12 at 10 o'clock. Interment was made at La-Joe cemetery. Rev. Reeves having charge. The deceased was 22 years, 9 months. He leaves to mourn a mother and two brothers, James H., of Akron, Ohio, Glen at home and one sister, Mrs. Jennie Batherst, Clover, Pa. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss they have sustained.

We loved him, yes we loved him
But Jesus loved him more
And he so sweetly called him
To yonder shifting shore.

The Golden Gates were open
A gentle voice said "Come"
And with farewells unspoken
Dear boy and brother passed to his Home.

LAWRENCE E. ARDARY

Lawrence Elisha Ardary, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ardary, of near Glen Richey, was born in Lawrence Township, April 15th, 1894, died March 11th, 1919. He was 24 years, 10 months and 26 days old. He leaves to mourn his death his mother and father and two sisters, Mrs. James Mitchell, of near Glen Richey and Anna, at home. One sister preceded him to the grave about three months ago.

The services were held at Bloomington Friday, conducted by Rev. Jarrett, of New Millport. Interment at Bloomington cemetery.

INFANT CHILD DIES

Marjorie Katherine, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Torrence, died at the Clearfield hospital yesterday morning.

of his platoon and his officers have been killed or wounded, Sgt. Free, under a terrific barrage and machine-gun fire organized a charge to attack a strong point, which was seriously menacing the whole command. In attempting this most hazardous task, Sgt. Free was killed. Home address, Conrad G. Free, brother, 798 Row street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sgt. Robert Quiri (deceased), Company F, 310th Infantry, (A. S. No. 1762908.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Thigaucourt, France, September 18, 1918. Leading a patrol under heavy fire Sgt. Quiri was able to protect an unprotected portion of his line until the next unit could take it over. He was at all times an inspiration to his men, continually exposing himself to danger while assuring their safety and comfort. After having his legs blown off and receiving other wounds, he gave all necessary information to his successor, before allowing himself to be carried away. He died soon after reaching the dressing station. Next of kin, Charles A. Quiri, father, 115 McCarthy street, Easton, Pa.

Pvt. James Neely, Company F, 146th Infantry, (A. S. No. 2706815.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Cierges, France, September 28, 1918. After his platoon had withdrawn about 50 yards to an established line, a wounded comrade was seen lying ahead, in the position which they formerly occupied. The enemy had just launched a strong counter attack, but Pvt. Neely, with another soldier, volunteered to go to the assistance of the wounded man. In the face of terrific fire of enemy artillery and machine guns, and the fire of their own comrades, who were resisting the attack, Pvt. Neely succeeded in bringing his man to a place of safety. Home address, Mrs. Mary Neely, mother, 1513 South Twenty-second street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Corpl. Charles V. Williams, Company B, 345th Battalion Tank Corps, (A. S. No. 10668.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Baugny, Meuse, France, September 28, 1918. During an attack on a hedge south of the Montebreu Woods, Corpl. Williams left his tank, which was out of action, and went through the severe rifle, machine-gun, and artillery fire to give first aid to his wounded lieutenant. He then took the wounded officer's place, leading the platoon of tanks to the objective through the intense enemy fire. Home address, Mrs. Charles V. Williams, 524 South Forty-ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Pvt. Frank C. Donahoe, Company A, 4th Infantry, (A. S. No. 533610.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Camel, France, October 4, 1918. While his company was in support of the attacking company, communication was temporarily lost in the darkness. After all the runners had become casualties, Pvt. Donahoe volunteered and succeeded in establishing liaison, pushing forward through the severe machine-gun and artillery fire despite the fact that he was painfully wounded soon after starting on his mission. Home address, Mrs. Frank Donahoe, wife, 257 Emily street, Philadelphia, Pa.

$25 For An Idea

Some time ago an offer of $25 was made through the columns of this paper for an idea of a fitting memorial to the boys of Clearfield who laid their lives on the altar of Freedom.

What is Wanted

The bare outline of a plan for the memorial is all that is wanted; the details will be worked out later. The plan must be clear enough so that detailed plans may be worked out therefrom.

What To Suggest

There has been much discussion as to what should be a fitting memorial for the boys—planting trees, tablets on the Court House, a large monument, a single tablet with the soldiers' names thereon; any of these may be suggested if the plan meets with the approval of the committee in charge. Outline something new for the committee—something that has not yet been suggested.

Who Will Judge Your Idea

The committee to judge the various plans will consist of the President, Chairman of Public Property, and Chairman of Finance, of the Borough Council. The plan must be such that it may be accepted, adopted and completed and at the completion of the memorial the winner's suggestion will be awarded the prize money.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work. They become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. It is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

at 10.30 o'clock. District Attorney Arnold called but one witness, Alonzo Ardary, father of Lawrence Ardary and uncle of Ralph. He testified to the finding of his son in the barn with
a bullet hole through his head
just back of the right ear. In answer to the District Attorney's questions Mr. Ardary also said his son was left-handed and when he found him mortally wounded he had a pair of heavy leather gloves on his hands.

This concluded the testimony
and Justice Chorpennin remanded the prisoner to jail
without bail.

The Ardary double shooting affair
is the most mysterious criminal happening in Clearfield county in years
and presents contraries and tangles at almost every angle or turn.

On the early morning of February
9th last Ralph Ardary on his return from Clearfield to his home on the Irishtown Ridges of Lawrence township about one mile this side of Glen Richey, alleges he found his father,
George W. Ardary, a prosperous and respected farmer, lying in his bed
with a 32 calibre bullet hole through his head and about to breathe his last. The rifle with which the shooting was done was found lying on the floor of the bed room.

The neighbors and county authorities were at once notified but the most searching investigation failed to disclose any reason for the terrible crime or any clue to the dastardly perpetrator. The weapon with which the shooting was done belonged to
Mr. Ardary and was kept in an outhouse at the farm, while the shells
for same were kept in another place
in the building which denoted that the person who did the shooting was thoroughly familiar with the premises in every particular.

On the morning of March 11th last Ralph Ardary went across the fields to the home of his uncle Alonzo A. Ar-dary and invited his cousin, Lawrence Ardary to come over and help
him break a colt.

Lawrence Ardary accepted the invitation and shortly after 1 o'clock
while the two young men were in the barn getting a hack ready to which they intended hitching the colt, Ralph Ardary alleges that Lawrence asked
to purchase the colt, which he admired and on his refusal to sell Ralph says Lawrence drew a revolver and fired point blank at him as he was stooped over working with the wagon.
The bullet penetrated his hat and he turned and grappled with Lawrence
and was getting the better of him
when he fired again, this bullet penetrating Ralph's left arm about midway between the wrist and elbow,
making a serious wound.

According to Ralph's story he then
ran down the steps from the barn floor and out through the stable. As he got outside he says he heard a third shot, which it is alleged was fired by Lawrence through his head.

Ralph Ardary alleged the neighbors and Alonzo Ardary was summoned. He entered the barn and found his son Lawrence lying on the barn floor unconscious, with a bullet through his right temple. He was removed to his home and expired a couple of hours later without having regained consciousness.

This shooting was done with a revolver belonging to George Ardary,
brother of Ralph, which had been taken from George's room.

Ralph Ardary alleged in his story
following the shooting that he had attempted to take a barrel out of the attic at his home and getting stuck in the attic stairs with the barrel called his cousin Lawrence, who had already arrived at the house in answer to Ralph's invitation, to come up and help him with the barrel. He then alleges that Lawrence came out of George's room when he responded to the summons and leaves the inference that he secured the revolver with which the shooting was done while in the room.

Immediately following the shooting
District Attorney Arnold was notified
and in company with Deputy Sheriff
Gilliland, Chief of Police Eadie and Officer Leavy promptly repaired to the scene. They met Ralph Ardary
and his brother George in a buggy on their way to the hospital at Clearfield where Ralph was going to have his injured arm treated.

A rigid investigation disclosed several conditions which did not correspond with Ralph Ardary's story. Coroner Pollum arrived the following morning and summoning a jury proceeded to go over the ground carefully and the result of this investigation is given in the opening paragraphs of this story.

The community in which the double
crime was committed is pretty well divided on as to who is guilty, though
all are united in the belief that the same individual is responsible for all the shooting.

Ralph Ardary's brothers and sisters are firm in the belief that he is telling the truth while Lawrence Ar-dary's family and friends are equally insistent that Ralph Ardary not only killed Lawrence Ardary but also shot
his father.

They advance the theory that Lawrence Ardary, who stayed at the George Ardary home at night for a couple of weeks following the tragic killing of the father and slept with Ralph during that time, had become possessed of the knowledge that Ralph was guilty of his father's murder, and that after brooding over the matter for some time Ralph made his plans to put Lawrence out of the way
because he knew too much. In proof of this theory they point to the fact of the invitation extended by Ralph to Lawrence to come over, his call to the attic to help take down a barrel any 10 year old boy could carry. They further lay stress on the fact that Lawrence was left handed while he was shot through the right temple
and when found lying unconscious
with the revolver by his side was wearing a pair of such heavy working gloves that it would have been impossible for him to have operated
the revolver with them on, while on the other hand Ralph had taken his gloves off and they were found on the barn floor following the shooting.

It had been previously stated that George Ardary, who owned the revolver,
had been at home but about ten days before this last shooting and

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur it Brings
Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know
the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked,
just a few applications of Sage Tea
and Sulphur enhances its appearance
a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young!
Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of
"Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing
this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning
the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural
color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger.

that as Lawrence Ardary had not
been about the house since that time
he had no way of knowing George had a revolver in his room. Ralph Ar-dary's sisters say Lawrence was over to the house several times during the week preceding the shooting.

The delay in the filing of the result of the Coroner's inquest was occasioned
by the request of District Attorney
Arnold who, when apprised of the actual finding and recommendation of the Coroner's jury, desired to pursue
an additional investigation along lines
the avenues to which might possibly have been closed had the exact status
of the case been generally known.

I saw it in The Progress.

Spring Showing OF

Women's Ready-to-Wear

Keeping pace with the month our ready-to-Wear
section is taking on the look of Spring. New things are arriving daily. And we haven't seen anything anywhere to equal their matchless beauty of design,
the clever styling of the period, the most popular colors of the Spring's scheme, the nattiest of materials.

WAISTS, SKIRTS, COATS SUITS

Each of its own best selection of materials and
the styling is just the properest thing for the season.
The dainty make-up of the waists, the skirts with the fuller hips and the suggestion of tightness at the bottom, the coats in their big loose folds, hanging full
from the shoulders, the suits with their hip length jackets and the season's styled skirts—a collection of Spring apparel that is seldom equalled in a store this size.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

John H. Duke, a former Clearfield
resident, died at his home in Detroit, Mich., on March 15th, after a lingering illness of cancer of the stomach,
aged 70 years, 5 months and 4 days.

The deceased leaves to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father,
his widow, two sons and two daughters, viz: Harry of Barnesboro, Pa.;
John A., of Detroit; Mrs. Harry Metcalf, of Philadelphia and Mrs. Mack-ley, of Ohio.

The remains were brought to Woodland and the funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his brother in law, John Wisor. Interment was made in Bradford cemetery, Rev. Strayer, of the U. B. church officiating.

RUB YOUR BACK! STOPS LUMBAGO

Don't Drug Kidneys! Rub the pain right out with old "St. Jacobs Liniment"

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains,
sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub
your back with soothing, penetrating
"St. Jacobs Liniment." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn
or discolor the skin.
Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause

any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years. Stop dragging kidneys!
They don't cause backache, because they have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain.

Hints On Winter Driving

Reading—and heeding—these hints on winter driving will make you a weather-wise, happier motorist in frigid weather. They are reproduced from a bit of a booklet just issued by the United Motors Service, Incorporated, which comprises the service departments of the Delco, Klaxon and Remay organizations. Save them as they appear in these columns, learn them in substance and keep them where you can refer to them. They may help you out of trouble some cold day.

WHEN STARTING

An extremely cold motor—give it a quarter turn with the hand crank. Don't try to start engine by hand, but just help the electric cranker that much, by relieving it of the initial load due to pistons, bearings and other parts held fast in the grip of congealed oil and grease; so give the motor a quarter or perhaps a half turn by hand before you close the switch or tie the pedal.

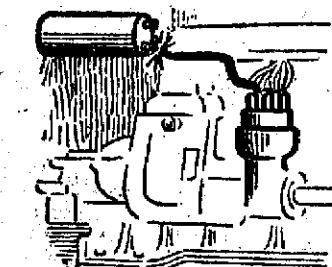

Hold out the clutch with the left foot while you close the starter switch. You can do this wherever the cranker engages directly with the engine. If your cranker operates under these conditions you will avoid turning over the clutch and the transmission shaft and gears as well. In cold weather particularly, the oil or grease in the transmission is stiff, and it requires considerable effort for the gears to revolve in it. Relieve the cranker of this extra work by holding out the clutch. It's not a bad habit for all year 'round.

Don't grind forever—You wouldn't do it if you were cranking by hand. If the starter spins the engine, some other cause is preventing the latter from getting away under its own power. If you keep the starting switch closed indefinitely, hoping that at some revolution the engine will take hold, you may be overlooking a shut-off ignition switch, or the absence of spark or gasoline.

Close the throttle and open it wide, alternately. Open it a moment and then close it to allow the pumping in of air. Too much raw gas is as bad as too little—and just as hard to ignite.

A stationary "cranker" is one which won't turn over when the starter switch is closed. If the engine moves just a little—but quickly stalls—when you first close the switch, release the starter immediately. Try once or twice more to make sure of no results.

(Copyright 1918—By United Motors Service Incorporated)

Examine the conditions—Be sure the switch makes good contact and that no wires are dropped off or are loose. Loose terminals at the battery are a very frequent cause of "no starting." These must be tight and clean. If engine turns over but fails to start, unfasten at the terminal on the coil the large single (high tension) wire which leads from the coil to the center of the "distributor" and hold it about an inch from the terminal. Have someone close the starter switch and with engine turning over a spark will jump the gap if everything is in working order. Be sure ignition switch is closed when making this test.

A burned resistance will prevent a spark at the main coil as above described. The resistance is a small coil of fine wire wound around a porcelain under the small metal cap. This cap may be either on the main coil or on the side of the distributor. If burned in two, any piece of wire may be substituted in place of it, as a temporary repair to get the motor started. It is dangerous to operate engine any length of time with this temporary arrangement. Permanent damage may be done if a proper resistance unit is not installed promptly.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Sunday being such a warm, balmy day, Curwensville ladies took advantage of it to display their new spring headgear. There was some gorgeous styles displayed as the ladies took their afternoon walk.

The whistle on Summit sole leather tannery, which has been sounded at 7 o'clock every Saturday night in order to ascertain if it was in working order, was blown last Saturday evening, the first time in a month.

Automobile owners who had their machines put away last fall expecting a severe winter, had them out on test runs Sunday. Very few of the drivers hit the country roads, however, but played around on the paved streets.

Mr. Harley and son Paul are busy putting the finishing touches of paint on a new house for Mr. Bressler on South Side.

The "woman in black" who, it was said, followed people across the river iron bridge, has ceased to create any curiosity at present, although some people still adhere to the story that they had been followed half way up the hill, and when they would turn to face her, she mysteriously disappeared.

An effort will be made shortly to reorganize the Camp Five girls. Several years ago Curwensville had a fine band of girls in this work, but of late they seem to have lost interest.

Last year a petition was presented to borough Council for the building of a foot walk onto the bridge that crosses Anderson creek, near the foot of Pine street. The petition had several hundred signers, and showed very plainly that it was dangerous for pedestrians, and especially children, to cross in summer when so many automobiles were using it, as 90 per cent. of the travel to Grampian and DuBois use this bridge. Now would be an appropriate time to do this work.

A cake walk is advertised to be held in Grange hall Thursday evening of this week. A good time is promised to all those who delight in that sort of entertainment.

Clifford McClure, of Clearfield, was a Curwensville visitor several days this week.

Under the list of appointments it is noticed that Ralph Volpe of this place has secured a good position with the State Highway people. He has been in that business for several years and has made good in every position that he has held.

One by one the soldier boys from this section are returning to their homes, having been discharged from the service. Quite a few are in service overseas, and are eagerly awaiting the time to be sent back across the pond. As one of them in a letter to the Progress man, received last week said: "The country across the Rhine is fair enough and the people where we are billeted us as well as they know how to use a doughboy, yet I will only be too glad when I can walk on good American soil again. It is a safe bet to say, however, that the Germans will only be too glad to see us depart and know that we will not be a bother to them any longer. The feeling is mutual."

This mild weather is like having a tooth pulled to the urchin who is compelled through fear of a good thrashing to attend school. Every spare minute he has outside of school is now devoted to playing marbles, and some of the boxes fixed up by those who have the gamblers' instinct are

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a pure vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days—you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

unique in the least. Every place you look morning, noon or night you can see a squad of juveniles on their knees indulging in the game. This is surely a harbinger of an early spring.

The Arnold homestead, which at one time was considered to be the finest home in Curwensville, has been cut up and altered and made into two dwellings or flats. The painters and decorators are about through with the work and within the next few weeks the house will be occupied by W. G. Lave, manager of the Bickford store, and Ed. McKinley, who is connected with the brick yard.

Several of the farmers living on the river bottom above this place were plowing last week. This time last year there was lots of snow on the ground and the earth was frozen to a depth of almost eight or ten inches.

Rev. Max Lantz left today to attend the General Central Pennsylvania conference. It is confidently expected that he will be returned to the charge here for another year.

C. S. Russell has so far recovered his health as to be able to walk about the house.

Mrs. S. C. Watts who was ill for three or four weeks, has recovered and was able to teach her Sunday school class last Sabbath.

WILDFIRE

By ZANE GREY

Author of

"The Rainbow Trail," "Riders of the Purple Sage," "The Border Legion," Etc.

Lin Sloane had tracked the untamed red stallion Wildfire from Utah up into Colorado, and had captured him, but he was only the nominal owner, for Lucy Bostil had won the love of this beautiful animal and had captivated the heart of the "wild-horse rider" as well. Lucy was the pride of her father's heart, having inherited his love of horses and his perfect fearlessness. One day she raced Wildfire against her father's "favorite" and won. On a later day, in another race, Wildfire saved Lucy's life against forest fire.

Like all of Zane Grey's novels, this one is straight, clean and exciting—perhaps, if possible, it is a little more thrilling than any of the others.

State will take over the road for future maintenance. In handling work under this method, however, the State Highway Department must approve the plans and specifications, advertise for proposals and oversee the construction.

William L. McCracken of Brookville, Jefferson county, wrote to the Highway Department saying that the understanding of the people of Warsaw township, that county, is that a permanent road can be built by a county only where the same connects with an improved road already constructed. In reply the Highway Department said:

"You are in error in your understanding that a State-aid road can be built only where the same connects with an improved road already constructed as this conditions applies to a borough but not to a township. It is the thought of the Department, however, to suggest that such roads be built with the thought of connecting up with main highways."

Dozens of communicants have been received relative to the improvement of the western end of the William Penn Highway from Blairsville into Pittsburgh. It was urged in these letters that early construction on this highway would relieve congestion on the Lincoln Highway. The Highway Department informed these correspondents that the proposition is having the department's best attention.

The department conveyed it thanks to Major Weaver H. Rodgers, 5850 Northumberland Avenue, Pittsburgh, for his suggestion that state, townships and other officers wear a distinctive uniform and badge clearly indicating their authority to enforce the law applying to the roads of the Commonwealth.

William Lloyd of the Coxie Stocker Sales Company of Hazelton, wrote the Highway Department relative to the maintenance proposition and in reply to his letter the Highway Commissioner made the following statement which is indicative of the future policy of the department:

"Upon the completion of construction work, we aim to keep a very careful patrol system in force, to see that every part of our roadway is kept in the best possible condition, to the limit of the funds at our disposal."

E. B. Harshaw, Cashier of the Road City National Bank, asked the department for confirmation of the rumor that Mercer County is entitled to one-fifth of the $50,000,000 bond issue and other money going to the department which is to be apportioned to the counties.

Replying to this letter Highway Commissioner Sadler said: "I would state for your information that there is positively no distribution of bond issue money that can be made in the plan of constructing a main arterial system of roads for the entire state which would be equitable or practicable."

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT WEST SIDE M. E. CHURCH

Come and See the Columbus Here Are More Big Points

THE hound, hunk, skein and skein box construction will interest you. On the Columbus the bounds are of straight-grained oak; on the front gear they are of the square type, wide and roomy in the rear, to give the reach ample support in turning short. They are mortised and well braced with solidly welded steel.

Hubs are of white oak only, turned, shaped, and bored accurately for the skein boxes. Skein box is made so that a grease chamber is formed. A solid collar keeps the oil away from the wood of the hubs. Mud and sand cannot get into the axle and the skeins cannot wear into the skein boxes. That means long life and good service.

These are all reasons why you should have a Columbus wagon—that is—if you want a wagon for real work. Come in and let us show you.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GORDON

THE FISH SHOW.

"We can show them something worth looking at," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"Whom do you mean?" asked Mr. Goldfish.

"People," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"And what can we show them worth looking at?" asked Mr. Goldfish who wanted to find out everything.

"Well, the idea!" said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"Never have I known such a modest fish. We can show people ourselves. We can swim about and they can look at us. For this is a fish show you know. We're not going to live in these aquariums forever. No! We're special fishes brought to show the people how rare and wonderful and expensive and beautiful we can be."

"And so that's why we are here, is it?" asked Mr. Goldfish, looking very thin and bright and happy now.

"The very reason," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"And let me tell you that it does my watery heart good when I see society people looking at me with envy. I'll tell you a secret, Mr. Goldfish, only you mustn't tell Mrs. Goldfish for it might make her jealous and envious."

"Tell me the secret," said Mr. Goldfish, wiggling around.

"They call my color midnight blue and it's very fashionable this year. Ladies would give anything to have gowns made of the color I am."

"Doesn't it make you nervous?" asked Mr. Goldfish.

"Why?" asked Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"They might try to use you."

"Oh, dear no," laughed Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish, splashing delightedly.

"They never make dresses out of fishes—never, never, never. If we had fur on us then they might, but as we haven't there is no need of worrying."

"And so you're fashionable and yet safe," said Mr. Goldfish. "Well, you are indeed fortunate."

"Add my long black tail to much admired," Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish said.

Now at the fish show there were fishes of all colors and ages and from all countries. There were fishes from Spain, Brazil, India, Java, Mexico, China, Japan and from America.

"And My Long, Black Tail is Much Admired."

There were some that were as old as twenty-five years, though most of the ones considered quite old were only about eight years of age.

"I'm a famous fighter, if anyone should want to know it," said Mr. Betta Rubra Fish, from Spain.

"I like to hear it," said his brother, "for I'm a fighter too."

"We're called prize fighters where we come from," said Mr. Betta Rubra Fish.

"Maybe you are," said a fish with eyes looking upward toward the roof for there was no sky overhead.

"But," the fish continued, "I am called the Celestial fish because my big eyes look upward to the heavens."

"To the roof," said the Lion Head fish. Its head was similar to the head of a lion and also to that of a bulldog and the Lion Head fish was also very fat.

"Don't be rude," said the Celestial fish.

"We are beautiful, small and rare," said the Pebble Fish family and the Argus Fish family.

"None of us are usual, ordinary and common," said a little minnow. "Why, some folks think minnows are cheap and that there are quantities of us, so we can be gathered in by the pailful. But do you know something?"

"What?" splashed the other fishes.

"If anyone should put me in a pail—just me—all by myself without any of my sisters or brothers they would have to pay a great deal of money for me, for I'm very valuable."

"I'm worth even more," said Mr. Calico Telescope. "I'm of the most wonderful coloring."

"That's so," said the minnow, "but it is a very great thing to be an expensive minnow. There are so many cheap ones swimming around in lakes and ponds and rivers."

"Ah," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish. "This is a wonderful exhibition of the rare fishes that exist."

"Do we exist?" asked Mr. Goldfish.

"I thought we were swimmers. Isn't it swimming we can do?"

"That's the right word, Mr. Goldfish, but exist is another word which means to live. We live by swimming and eating. But of course as I'm fashionable I have to keep up with these words." And the other fishes splashed as they agreed.

Woman suffrage is expected to be a prominent issue in the next session of the Hawaiian legislature.

SUPREME WAR COUNCIL GREED ON A TERRITORIAL AND FINANCIAL PROBLEMS OF THE PEACE PLANS

Coroner's Jury Recommends That Ralph Ardary Be Held For Murder of His Cousin

By FRED S. FERGUSON

PARIS, March 19.—The speed up program of the peace conference was in full swing today. Committee sessions and meetings of the Supreme War Council this afternoon were making good progress in drafting the terms of the preliminary treaty with Germany. It was the belief of officials today that the treaty would be ready March 29, and probably be submitted to the Germans three days later. It was announced today that Versailles has been definitely selected as the site for the signing of the treaty.

By FRED S. FERGUSON

PARIS, March 19.—The Supreme War Council was expected to reach a final agreement today on territorial and financial questions of the preliminary peace treaty. The conference yesterday was attended by President Wilson, Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau. Italy and Spain were not represented because the matters discussed did not directly affect them. The session which lasted from 8 to 5:30 p. m. was described as satisfactory.

By FRED S. FERGUSON

The big powers it was learned today are practically agreed regarding the financial affairs. Nearly all the final bill for reparations must be based on what Germany will be able to pay. The details of the indemnities will be based on a very few facts.

CLEARFIELD GIRLS LOSE TO TYRONE GIRL CHAMPIONS

The Clearfield girls journeyed to Tyrone last evening where they met and played, perhaps the best or champion girls basketball team of United States. The Tyrone College girls who have been playing basketball from five to seven years outplayed the Clearfield girls on Tyrone Y. M. C. A. gym floor. In the second quarter, the Clearfield center, Miss Beish, was thrown into the net from which she sustained an injury to her knee. She had to discontinue playing and Miss Bailey was substituted for her. The Clearfield girls had the honor of scoring the first field goal on the Tyrone girls team this year. Miss Barratt scored the field goal and Miss Geppert made 2 foul goals out of seven tries.

The referee, an old experienced Y. M. C. A. physical director (Paul Neff) was fair and square, calling six fouls on Clearfield and eight on Tyrone. The Clearfield girls played a good game and were treated and respected as ladies by the audience and players. There were no eggs thrown.

Miss Geppert starred for Clearfield inasmuch as she guarded Miss Waple, their star college player, and did not allow her to score a single field goal the first half.

On Friday evening, March 28, the Clearfield basketball fans will have an opportunity to see the Tyrone college girls play the Clearfield girls at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The Tyrone girls have not lost a single game either at or away from home, having defeated such teams as Lock Haven Normal and Indiana girls. The Clearfield girls will try and defeat them when they play at Clearfield.

The scores:
Tyrone F. Barratt
Arnold F. Pooler
Snyder C. Miss Beish
Keohane G. Smith
Parsons G. Geppert
Field goals: Tyrone: Waple 3, Arnold 3, Snyder 5, Keohane 1, Parsons 2. Clearfield: Barratt 1, Foulie, Miss Keohane 2, out of 6. Miss Barratt 0 out of 1. Miss Geppert 2 out of 7. Referee Neff. Scorer Overly. Time-keeper, Smith.

WETS WILL HAVE BILL TOO

HARRISBURG, March 19.—With the Fox bill which provides a method of enforcing prohibition, and the resolution providing for the submission to the people of an amendment to the constitution providing for equal suffrage, that body faces a busy period. Chairman Bungard of the House law and order committee said today that as many hearings as are necessary will be granted to those who want to be heard. The House held a short session today adjourning for the week. The Senate adjourned for the week yesterday. Advocates for the repeal of the Sunday blue laws permitting Sunday concerts and moving picture shows appeared before the House judiciary committee today, the Philadelphia orchestra being part of the demonstration made.

The leaders of the lobbyists' interests in securing advance in the salary of teachers of the state are trying to arrange for a conference with Governor Sproul with the hope that an administrative measure will be the result of the conference.

HARRISBURG, March 18.—A prohibition enforcement act, prepared by the Anti-Saloon League, has been introduced in the House by Representative Arthur R. B. Fox, of Philadelphia. The bill was prepared by J. Day Brownlee, counsel for the Anti-

AMERICAN MORTALS

ALAN LOUIS EGGERS, Sergeant, M. G. Co., 107th Infantry.

Unusual bravery displayed in aiding comrades in distress near Catolot, France, September 20, 1918, won the Distinguished Service Cross for Sgt. Eggers. Becoming separated from their platoons by a smoke barrage, Sgt. Eggers, Sgt. John G. Latham and Corporal Thomas E. O'Shea took cover in a shell hole well within the enemy's lines. Upon hearing a call for help from an American tank, which had become disabled thirty yards from them, the three soldiers left their shelter and started toward the tank, under heavy fire from German machine guns and trench mortars. In crossing the fire-swept area Corp. O'Shea was mortally wounded, but his companions, undeterred, proceeded to the tank, rescued a wounded officer, and assisted two soldiers to cover in the sap of a nearby trench. Sgt. Eggers and Sgt. Latham then returned to the tank in the face of the violent fire, dismounted a Hotchkiss gun and took it back to where the wounded men were, keeping off the enemy all day by the effective use of the gun, and later bringing it, with the wounded men, back to our lines under cover of darkness. Sgt. Eggers' home is at 152 Summit avenue, Summit, N. J.

HARD COAL MEN TO SEE SPROUL

By United Press
Harrisburg, March 19.—Anthracite coal operators of the state will hold a conference with Governor Sproul in this city tomorrow afternoon, and the pending action for investigation of the cost of coal will be held up until after the meeting. The conference was arranged for today by Allen C. Dodson, secretary of the Anthracite Coal Operators' association to whom Governor Sproul yesterday addressed a letter relative to the coal industry.

WHAT SAY YOU, BROTHER?

Washington, March 19.—Revenue officers were frankly at a loss today as to how to combat the move of New York brewers to resume the manufacture of beer containing .0275 per cent. alcohol. If such beer is intoxicating it is illegal to make it under the government order against the use of food stuff in the manufacture of intoxicants. Brewers say .0275 per cent. beer is not intoxicating.

FINDS HIMSELF CHARGED WITH MURDER WHEN HE READS THE PAPER

Mineola, N. Y., March 19.—Dr. Walter K. Wilkins, wanted for the murder of his wife, telegraphed District Attorney Weeks from Baltimore today saying he would soon arrive here to testify before the grand jury. Wilkins said in his telegram that he did not know there was a murder charge against him until he read the morning papers. He added that he was starting immediately for Mineola to tell all he knew of the case.

FREE SEEDS FOR DISTRIBUTION BY THE PROGRESS

The Progress has received from Congressman Evans J. Jones a limited number of packages of garden seed for distribution in this section. The packages contain beet, cucumber, lettuce, radish and tomato seeds, sufficient for an ordinary garden. As stated, the supply is limited and the packages will be given out to the persons first applying. These packages will not be given to children except upon a written request from their parents. The seeds were packed for sowing in the spring of 1919 according to the announcement on the package, therefore it is believed that they are better than the usual run of government seeds.

Building Evidence By Large Number Of Visitors

IN ANSWER READY FOR ALL

HARRISBURG, March 18.—The interest of Pennsylvanians in securing ornamental highways is evidenced not only in the visits of hundreds of citizens during the last few weeks, but by the receipt of scores of letters in every mail, bearing on different phases of the road situation in Pennsylvania.

H. L. R. Anderson of Jackson Center, Mercer County, has written the Highway Department asking a number of questions, the answers to which are of interest in the state generally. He queried: "Is it the intention of the Highway Department to use a part of the $50,000,000 bond issue to construct State-aid highways? Are State-aid roads to be constructed now a part of the Sproul system? Are roads to be constructed by counties from moneys obtained by the bond issue now a part of the Sproul system, or may they be constructed any place in the county selected by the commissioners and the people?"

The reply of the Highway Department contained the following information:

"No portion of the proceeds of the $50,000,000 bond issue will be used in the construction of State-aid highways, this class of highways being constructed from money appropriated for that purpose by the Legislature. "The majority of State-aid roads to be constructed with the aid of counties and townships will form a part of State Highway routes. However, this does not mean that only such roads will be taken up for State-aid improvement, for this is a matter entirely within the option of the Commissioners of the several counties, as to where their preference lies.

"The bond issues of the several counties will be expended at the discretion of the county commissioners. There are a number of counties, however, which have agreed with the State Highway Department to make the expenditure of State Highway Routes with the understanding that upon the completion of the work the

BUCKET LINE STARTED

The bucket line mine of the Cassidy Coal Company located at Hyde City started this morning with a large force of miners to fill a large order for coal recently received.

The result of the coroner's investigation into the death of Lawrence E. Ardary, who was shot and killed at the farm home of his cousin, Ralph Ardary, on March 11th, was announced today with the finding that the victim of the shooting was the cousin of the deceased and that the shooting was a result of a quarrel between the two men.

The verdict of the coroner's jury is as follows:

"CORONER'S INQUIRY"

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

County of Clearfield

An Inquisition taken in Lawrence Township, Clearfield County, and State of Pennsylvania, at the farm home of Ralph Ardary, on March 11th, 1919, by the coroner, J. I. Pollum, M. D., and the jury, consisting of Charles H. Howell, Charles H. Howell, James D. Smith, and Alfred Jones, returned the following verdict:

That the deceased, Lawrence E. Ardary, was shot and killed by Ralph Ardary, his cousin, on March 11th, 1919, at 5:45 P. M. at the farm home of Ralph Ardary, in Lawrence Township, Clearfield County, Pennsylvania.

That the shooting was a result of a quarrel between the two men, and that the evidence produced before them that the said Lawrence E. Ardary came to his death, March 11, 1919, at 5:45 P. M. at the farm home of Ralph Ardary, as a result of a quarrel between the two men, was sufficient to recommend the holding of Ralph Ardary for further investigation on the part of the District Attorney.

In Witness Whereof, the aforesaid Coroner, as well as the said Jurors, have to this Inquisition set their hands and seals this 12th day of March A. D. 1919.

Following this recommendation County Coroner J. I. Pollum, of DuBois, who conducted the investigation in his official capacity, made an information this morning before Justice Chorpennin in which he formally charges Ralph Ardary with the murder of Lawrence Ardary. The warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff F. S. Gulland. Ralph Ardary was arrested at the home of his sister, Mrs. George S. Jones, at her home in the Third Ward of Clearfield at 10 o'clock.

The wound in Ralph Ardary's arm has healed rapidly and he was discharged from the Clearfield hospital yesterday afternoon.

The accused was given a hearing before Squire Chorpennin.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY FARMERS UP-TO-DATE

UNTIRING EFFORT MADE SOIL FERTILE

NEGLECTING CARE OF FARM BUILDINGS

MRS. FARMER NEEDS GOOD LOOKING HOUSE

To say that Clearfield county farms are as good as any other farms would be deliberate flattery though it is very evident that our soil, under proper attention and cultivation will yield a crop or crops which compare favorably with any other county in the central, northern or western part of the state. Aside from the farms in Lancaster and York counties and some others in the eastern part of the state we are on a par with our state neighbors so far as the fertility of the soil is concerned. Our farmers have learned to surmount the obstacles set up by nature and, while their farms are of larger acreage, by intensive cultivation have selected certain plots in their farms which they have caused to yield abundantly. To say that the farmers of Clearfield county are not progressive is disproven by one glance at the farms which have been cleared, stumped and cultivated, up hill and down, and are now producing the food stuffs on which we live.

Every encouragement should be given the farmer to continue his studies and his work to bring his farm up to even a higher standard. Without a continuance of this progressive spirit Clearfield county agriculture will not keep pace with the balance of the state and therefore not come in for its full share of spotlight from the Commonwealth. The economic independence of the citizens of Clearfield county depends largely on the progressiveness of its farmers and the productivity of our soils. Any community which must depend entirely on its neighbors for their foodstuffs is at a tremendous disadvantage.

In one way alone are the Clearfield farmers backward in a manner which is detrimental to their best interests. This is in the care and attention they give to their machinery, their barns, houses and outbuildings. It is possible and probable that the attention they must give to their farm precludes the possibility of giving more attention to these matters but it is to their financial interest to do so. It is not for us to criticize the farmer but simply to give our impressions as the result of extensive travel in farming communities and from a study of the economic side of the question.

Farm machinery, when not in use should be stored in a good building or water tight shed and a generous application of oil, grease and paint will add years to the life of it. Some farm yards look like a junk heap and in the majority of instances it is not worn out equipment but rather neglected machinery which has rusted and corroded to such an extent as to become useless.

Barns are allowed to crumble down and become eyesores to the community. While many of the barns in the eastern part of the state sport a coat of paint our barns are given no paint protection from the elements and consequently are shorter lived than their eastern neighbors; not worn out but rotted down. Many a farm is for sale but not marketable because of the dilapidated condition of its buildings. A coat of paint and yearly attention to repairs would have kept the farmer on the place. Many farmers get discouraged when after years of effort to make their land tillable their buildings totter to pieces.

Mrs. Farmer has some rights too, and it is surprising that she has not rebelled at living in a house of the same color as that which houses the old grey mare and the suckling calf. Painting the house will greatly increase the value of the farm, brighten the life of the good farmer's wife and add to the general improvement of community conditions. Try it in your community and see if the sun will not shine brighter on the labor of the day.

ARDERY MYSTERY IS TO BE CLEARED UP BRINGS TO MIND THE ROCKTON AFFAIR

The Ardery case will go down in history in Clearfield county as one of the puzzling tragedies of this generation. Although it bids fair to being solved by the unraveling process of the criminal court, it has for two weeks been the principal topic of conversation in this community. The evidence in the case is being carefully guarded and little is known as to the nature of the charges against the accused son and cousin, but the county officials are understood to be quite positive that they have a clear cut case and sufficient supporting evidence to obtain conviction. The trial will make interesting reading, especially to the people on the "ridges" who were tentative travel in farming communities and from a study of the economic side of the question.

Arderys and who have closely followed the affairs of the family who were respected residents of the community. Feeling runs at high ebb and the accused has many friends as well as those who point to him as the guilty party. Naturally no one rejoices at the prospect of conviction of the crime of murder but every citizen rests easier to know that the authorities have been sufficiently active to start the machinery of justice moving. The so-called Ardery mystery brings to mind the Rockton mystery when the Caldwell boy disappeared never to be found again. The solving of that puzzle will make another interesting chapter in our criminal history which we would like very much to read.

GET THIS MATTER STRAIGHTENED OUT

The State Highway Department on Monday last advertised for bids for the construction of State roads in some fifteen counties of the State. Nothing was done toward getting work started on Route 59 through Clearfield county for the reason, we are told, that many of the property owners along the route refuse to sign the release of damages prepared and required to be signed by the State before any advertisement of same will be made.

The release prepared by the Highway Department is objected to because of its "blanket" character. It covers release for all damages occasioned by change of route, etc., and the property owner being unable to determine just where the improvement road will be located through his property, hesitates to sign up.

This condition could be quickly eliminated by local highway representatives going on the ground and mapping or pointing out the proposed route for the benefit of those who refuse to sign until this is done.

We understand the County Good Roads Association is working on this proposition now and hope for an early settlement of this difficulty so that a start can be made on road building in this section in the near future.

U. S. NAVY TO MAKE TRANS-OCEAN FLIGHT

Washington, March 19.—Plans for a trans-Atlantic flight by an American sea plane are being made. Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt stated today. The flight is expected to take place sometime after May 1. Lieut. Commander Patrick L. Bellinger has been ordered from Norfolk to Washington in connection with the preparations for the flight. Roosevelt stated. No orders have been issued for the flight itself. Roosevelt stated that it was not likely that the flight could take place earlier than May. The plans are for a line of destroyers along the route of the proposed flight 200 miles apart. The seaplane equipped with radio would be in constant communication with these destroyers thus insuring virtual safety for the crew and the scientists who will be aboard for observation.

Saloon League, who brought it to Harrisburg.

In its definition of "intoxicating liquors," the bill does not specify that a beverage may contain a certain percentage of alcohol. The act does not contain a "possession" clause; that is, it does not declare that possession of liquor by individuals shall be prohibited. Neither does it contain a "search and seizure" clause, although its advocates say the following provisions of the measure cover that point:

"Any building where intoxicating liquor is manufactured or sold in violation of the law is declared to be a nuisance and the person maintaining it guilty of a misdemeanor."

Before Mr. Fox introduced the bill officials of the Anti-Saloon League made public the following digest of the measure:

"The definition of intoxicating liquors, according to the wording of this act, 'shall be construed to mean all vinous, distilled, malt, spirituous, fermented or alcoholic liquor and all alcoholic liquids and compounds, whether proprietary, patented or not, which are potable or capable of being used as a beverage, and all mixtures, compounds and preparations, whether liquid or not, which are intended when mixed with water or otherwise, to produce by fermentation or otherwise any alcoholic or intoxicating beverage.'

"Section 4 reads as follows: 'It shall be unlawful for any person directly or indirectly to manufacture, sell, transport, receive, deliver, possess, barter, solicit or take orders for, give away or furnish any intoxicating liquors on or after the 16th day of January, 1920, except as hereinafter provided.'

"The law makes provision for the sale of intoxicating liquors for chemical, mechanical, industrial, medicinal, scientific and sacramental purposes. The control of manufacture and sale of liquor for these purposes is committed to the Attorney General of the State. He is authorized to issue permits to a limited number of persons, to manufacture it. He is also authorized to issue permits to druggists to sell it for permitted purposes.

"Druggists who desire to sell liquor for permitted purposes shall in their application pledge themselves to strict obedience to the law, make affidavit to the same and give bond in the sum of $3000. No license fee is charged, but each druggist pays a fee of $1 for his permit.

"Druggists may sell upon the prescription of reputable physicians and to hospitals, laboratories, dentists, physicians, manufacturers, etc., to be used only for permitted purposes. "Druggists are required to keep record of all sales and purchasers must make oath as to the intended use of the liquor.

"All containers of liquor must bear a label indicating that it is intoxicating liquor, by whom sold and for what purpose.

"It shall be unlawful to advertise liquors by any means whatsoever, or any compounds or tablets from which any intoxicating liquor may be made.

"It shall be unlawful for any person to induce any common carrier to transport liquor without notifying the carrier as to its true nature.

"No liquor may be transported except the container bears label indicating the contents and the name and address of the shipper. Violation of this act by any common carrier is a misdemeanor.

"Drinking in public places is made an offense against the law. "Persons found intoxicated can be brought before the court and compelled to testify as to where they procured the liquor, and if they shall refuse they shall be held in contempt of court.

"The penalties provided for violation of different sections of the law are so arranged that wide discretion is given to the court. Penalties for a first offense consists of light fine or brief imprisonment or both. In case of violation of several different sections of the act the penalty becomes cumulative."

Undoubtedly the "wets" in the House will immediately introduce a counter measure, defining intoxicating liquors as beverages containing more than a specified percentage of alcohol. The liquor men have planned to introduce a bill protecting the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. They have been waiting a move by the dry forces and, therefore, it is likely the liquor fight will start all over again in the House within the next fortnight.

SAYS HOT WATER EACH DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY

Drink glass of hot water before Breakfast to wash out poisons

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. White you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, rheumatism; others who have swollen skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

The County National Bank OF CLEARFIELD

The Oldest Bank in Clearfield County

The Same Old Hun

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright 1919 by United Press)
Berlin, Feb. 26.—By Mail.—Three months' careful study of Germany, following the signing of the armistice, forces the conviction that neither war from without nor revolution from within has worked any psychological metamorphosis of Germany as a nation, or of Germans as individuals. Neither the strength nor the weaknesses of the German people, evidenced any transformation. The minds which accept and apply the terms of peace will differ but little from those which steered the successful course of the German empire up to August, 1914.

The revolution has changed the form of government. It has not changed the governed. The war has brought to Germany defeat, disaster and destitution. It has not brought despair, nor humiliation. A half-dozen speakers at the National Assembly in Weimar voiced the general feeling of the people when they said, in effect:

"We have not been defeated militarily. Hunger and the revolution forced us to quit. We accepted President Wilson's Fourteen Points and demobilized voluntarily, according to the provisions of the armistice."

The foreign office's policies and the attitude of its individual secretaries are unchanged; its personnel is practically the same as before the revolution, though the officials all profess to be democrats. Now they claim they opposed the war, especially employment of "fraternalism."

Count Bernstorff is considered by many well-informed Germans to be the man who is really running the foreign office with his cousin, Count Rantzau, chief in name only. The Germans feel that Brockdorff-Rantzau's speech, outlining the nation's foreign policy marked a new era in diplomacy because he stated frankly what the Germans consider modest. These included retention of the German colonies, a plebiscite for Alsace-Lorraine, reparation for German war prisoners and reparation for damages only.

Ostensibly, the censorship was removed with establishment of the present government. Yet priority of new dissemination is still preserved as an exclusive and monopolistic privilege of the Wolf Bureau, which was the semi-official propaganda agency under the old regime. Foreign newspaper correspondents' dispatches are held up six hours after the same information is obtained by Wolf. This guarantees to that organization the opportunity of giving the world its first and therefore its strongest, impression of any internal German situation. No German making the first pretense at frankness will attempt to create the impression that the disastrous results of 1914-1918 have created any deep-seated aversion to militarism among the German people. Men and women, both in and out of government circles, talk very casually of another war of revenge against France if Alsace-Lorraine is taken from Germany. They refer to this possibility as though it is to be accepted by everyone as a logical matter of fact.

Imperialistic, even monarchistic, utterances during the National Assembly meetings have stirred up no opposition from the delegates, except the radicals. For instance, Count Czadowski, conservative leader, defended Bismarckism. He advocated re-establishing the old regime, which he called the most benevolent and advanced government in the world. The delegates, save for a few radicals, listened blandly while Czadowski declared that a monarchy is the best form of government.

In addition to the Wolf Bureau's influence on foreign propaganda, there is now a new government department which is daily furnishing the people with inspired epigrams through the press. The theme of this propaganda is: "There has been no revolution in Germany—just a new form of government." With the exception of government organs, the press refuses to take the National Assembly very seriously.

A number of younger employees who joined the government through idealistic motives are switching to the radicals, believing that a real revolution is coming when the industrial workers and soldiers' councils decide that their expectations are not to be fulfilled. These elements are thoroughly organized and refuse to relinquish an iota of their power, though a representative republic has been founded, because they apparently mistrust the motives of the coalition leaders.

The situation in Germany, without doubt, is critical as regards food, industry and finance, but this does not seem to have effected any radical change in the psychology of the general public. Public opinion throughout the country does not fix the guilt for the war upon Germany; nor upon the ousted ruling class. It does not acknowledge German military defeat. Germans believe they are in their present position because—as their propaganda tells them—their idealism led them to lay down their arms and trust Wilson.

OBITUARY

ROY M. BISHOP

The funeral of Roy M. Bishop was held at his late home on South Fourth street, on Wednesday, March 12 at 10 o'clock. Interment was made at La-Joe cemetery. Rev. Reeves having charge. The deceased was 22 years, 9 months. He leaves to mourn a mother and two brothers, James H., of Akron, Ohio, Glen at home and one sister, Mrs. Jennie Bathurst, Clover, Pa. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss they have sustained.

We loved him, yes we loved him
But Jesus loved him more
And he so sweetly called him
To yonder shifting shore.

The Golden Gates were open
A gentle voice said "Come"
And with farewells unspoken
Dear boy and brother passed to his Home.

Sgt. Robert Quiri (deceased), Company F, 310th Infantry, (A. S. No. 1762908.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Thigaucourt, France, September 18, 1918. Leading a patrol under heavy fire Sgt. Quiri was able to protect an unprotected portion of his line until the next unit could take it over. He was at all times an inspiration to his men, continually exposing himself to danger while assuring their safety and comfort. After having his legs blown off and receiving other wounds, he gave all necessary information to his successor, before allowing himself to be carried away. He died soon after reaching the dressing station. Next of kin, Charles A. Quiri, father, 115 McCarthy street, Easton, Pa.

Pvt. James Neely, Company F, 146th Infantry, (A. S. No. 2706815.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Cierges, France, September 28, 1918. After his platoon had withdrawn about 50 yards to an established line, a wounded comrade was seen lying ahead, in the position which they formerly occupied. The enemy had just launched a strong counter attack, but Pvt. Neely, with another soldier, volunteered to go to the assistance of the wounded man. In the face of terrific fire of enemy artillery and machine guns, and the fire of their own comrades, who were resisting the attack, Pvt. Neely succeeded in bringing his man to a place of safety. Home address, Mrs. Mary Neely, mother, 1513 South Twenty-second street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Corpl. Charles V. Williams, Company B, 345th Battalion Tank Corps, (A. S. No. 10668.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Baugny, Meuse, France, September 28, 1918. During an attack on a hedge south of the Montebreu Woods, Corpl. Williams left his tank, which was out of action, and went through the severe rifle, machine-gun, and artillery fire to give first aid to his wounded lieutenant. He then took the wounded officer's place, leading the platoon of tanks to the objective through the intense enemy fire. Home address, Mrs. Charles V. Williams, 524 South Forty-ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Pvt. Frank C. Donahoe, Company A, 4th Infantry, (A. S. No. 533610.) For extraordinary heroism in action near Camel, France, October 4, 1918. While his company was in support of the attacking company, communication was temporarily lost in the darkness. After all the runners had become casualties, Pvt. Donahoe volunteered and succeeded in establishing liaison, pushing forward through the severe machine-gun and artillery fire despite the fact that he was painfully wounded soon after starting on his mission. Home address, Mrs. Frank Donahoe, wife, 257 Emily street, Philadelphia, Pa.

$25 For An Idea

Some time ago an offer of $25 was made through the columns of this paper for an idea of a fitting memorial to the boys of Clearfield who laid their lives on the altar of Freedom.

What is Wanted

The bare outline of a plan for the memorial is all that is wanted; the details will be worked out later. The plan must be clear enough so that detailed plans may be worked out therefrom.

What To Suggest

There has been much discussion as to what should be a fitting memorial for the boys—planting trees, tablets on the Court House, a large monument, a single tablet with the soldiers' names thereon; any of these may be suggested if the plan meets with the approval of the committee in charge. Outline something new for the committee—something that has not yet been suggested.

Who Will Judge Your Idea

The committee to judge the various plans will consist of the President, Chairman of Public Property, and Chairman of Finance, of the Borough Council. The plan must be such that it may be accepted, adopted and completed and at the completion of the memorial the winner's suggestion will be awarded the prize money.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work. They become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. It is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

at 10.30 o'clock. District Attorney Arnold called but one witness, Alonzo Ardary, father of
Lawrence Ardary and uncle of Ralph. He testified to the finding of his son in the barn with
a bullet hole through his head
just back of the right ear. In answer to the District Attorney's questions Mr. Ardary also said his son was left-handed and when he found him mortally
wounded he had a pair of heavy
leather gloves on his hands.

This concluded the testimony
and Justice Chorpennin remanded the prisoner to jail
without bail.

The Ardary double shooting affair
is the most mysterious criminal happening in Clearfield county in years
and presents contraries and tangles at almost every angle or turn.

On the early morning of February
9th last Ralph Ardary on his return
from Clearfield to his home on the Irishtown Ridges of Lawrence township about one mile this side of Glen
Richey, alleges he found his father,
George W. Ardary, a prosperous and respected farmer, lying in his bed
with a 32 calibre bullet hole through
his head and about to breathe his
last. The rifle with which the shooting was done was found lying on the floor of the bed room.

The neighbors and county authorities were at once notified but the most searching investigation failed to disclose any reason for the terrible
crime or any clue to the dastardly perpetrator. The weapon with which the shooting was done belonged to
Mr. Ardary and was kept in an out-
house at the farm, while the shells
for same were kept in another place
in the building which denoted that the person who did the shooting was thoroughly familiar with the premises in
every particular.

On the morning of March 11th last Ralph Ardary went across the fields to the home of his uncle Alonzo A. Ar-
dary and invited his cousin, Lawrence Ardary to come over and help
him break a colt.

Lawrence Ardary accepted the invitation and, shortly after 1 o'clock
while the two young men were in the barn getting a hack ready to which they intended hitching the colt, Ralph Ardary alleges that Lawrence asked
to purchase the colt, which he admired and on his refusal to sell Ralph
says Lawrence drew a revolver and
fired point blank at him as he was
stooped over working with the wagon.
The bullet penetrated his hat and he turned and grappled with Lawrence
and was getting the better of him
when he fired again, this bullet penetrating Ralph's left arm about midway between the wrist and elbow,
making a serious wound.

According to Ralph's story he then
ran down the steps from the barn
floor and out through the stable. As he got outside he says he heard a third shot, which it is alleged was fired by Lawrence through his head.

Ralph Ardary alleged the neighbors and Alonzo Ardary was summoned. He entered the barn and found his son Lawrence lying on the barn floor unconscious, with a bullet
through his right temple. He was removed to his home and expired a couple of hours later without having regained consciousness.

This shooting was done with a revolver belonging to George Ardary,
brother of Ralph, which had been taken from George's room.

Ralph Ardary alleged in his story
following the shooting that he had attempted to take a barrel out of the attic at his home and getting stuck in
the attic stairs with the barrel called

his cousin Lawrence, who had already arrived at the house in answer to Ralph's invitation, to come up and help him with the barrel. He then alleges that Lawrence came out of George's room when he responded to
the summons and leaves the inference
that he secured the revolver with which the shooting was done while in the room.

Immediately following the shooting
District Attorney Arnold was notified
and in company with Deputy Sheriff
Gilliland, Chief of Police Eadie and Officer Leavy promptly repaired to
the scene. They met Ralph Ardary
and his brother George in a buggy on their way to the hospital at Clearfield
where Ralph was going to have his injured arm treated.

A rigid investigation disclosed several conditions which did not correspond with Ralph Ardary's story. Coroner Pollum arrived the following morning and summoning a jury proceeded to go over the ground carefully and the result of this investigation is given in the opening paragraphs of this story.

The community in which the double
crime was committed is pretty well
divided on as to who is guilty, though
all are united in the belief that the same individual is responsible for all
the shooting.

Ralph Ardary's brothers and sisters are firm in the belief that he is telling the truth while Lawrence Ar-
dary's family and friends are equally
insistent that Ralph Ardary not only
killed Lawrence Ardary but also shot
his father.

They advance the theory that Lawrence Ardary, who stayed at the George Ardary home at night for a couple of weeks following the tragic
killing of the father and slept with Ralph during that time, had become possessed of the knowledge that Ralph was guilty of his father's murder, and that after brooding over the matter for some time Ralph made his
plans to put Lawrence out of the way
because he knew too much. In proof
of this theory they point to the fact
of the invitation extended by Ralph to Lawrence to come over, his call to the
attic to help take down a barrel any 10 year old boy could carry. They further lay stress on the fact that Lawrence was left handed while he was shot through the right temple
and when found lying unconscious
with the revolver by his side was
wearing a pair of such heavy working gloves that it would have been impossible for him to have operated
the revolver with them on, while on the other hand Ralph had taken his gloves off and they were found on the barn floor following the shooting.

It had been previously stated that
George Ardary, who owned the revolver,
had been at home but about ten days before this last shooting and

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur it Brings
Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know
the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it
fades, turns gray and looks streaked,
just a few applications of Sage Tea
and Sulphur enhances its appearance
a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young!
Either prepare the recipe at home or
get from any drug store a bottle of
"Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time
recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use
preparation, because it darkens the
hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing
this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning
the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural
color is restored and it becomes thick,
glossy and lustrous and you appear
years younger.

that as Lawrence Ardary had not
been about the house since that time
he had no way of knowing George had
a revolver in his room. Ralph Ar-dary's sisters say Lawrence was over
to the house several times during the week preceding the shooting.

The delay in the filing of the result
of the Coroner's inquest was occasioned
by the request of District Attorney
Arnold who, when apprised of the actual finding and recommendation of
the Coroner's jury, desired to pursue
an additional investigation along lines
the avenues to which might possibly
have been closed had the exact status
of the case been generally known.

Spring Showing

OF

Women's Ready-to-Wear

Keeping pace with the month our ready-to-Wear
section is taking on the look of Spring. New things are arriving daily. And we haven't seen anything
anywhere to equal their matchless beauty of design,
the clever styling of the period, the most popular
colors of the Spring's scheme, the nattiest of materials.

WAISTS, SKIRTS, COATS SUITS

Each of its own best selection of materials and
the styling is just the properest thing for the season.
The dainty make-up of the waists, the skirts with the
fuller hips and the suggestion of tightness at the bottom, the coats in their big loose folds, hanging full
from the shoulders, the suits with their hip length
jackets and the season's styled skirts—a collection of Spring apparel that is seldom equalled in a store this size.

John H. Duke, a former Clearfield
resident, died at his home in Detroit, Mich., on March 15th, after a lingering illness of cancer of the stomach,
aged 70 years, 5 months and 4 days.

The deceased leaves to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father,
his widow, two sons and two daughters, viz: Harry of Barnesboro, Pa.;
John A., of Detroit; Mrs. Harry Met-
calf, of Philadelphia and Mrs. Mack-
ley, of Ohio.

The remains were brought to Woodland and the funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his brother in law, John Wisor. Interment was made in Bradford cemetery, Rev. Strayer, of the U. B. church
officiating.

RUB YOUR BACK! STOPS LUMBAGO

Don't Drug Kidneys! Rub the pain
right out with old "St. Jacobs Liniment"

Back hurt you? Can't straighten
up without feeling sudden pains,
sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get
blessed relief the moment you rub
your back with soothing, penetrating
"St. Jacobs Liniment." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub
it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn
or discolor the skin.
Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug

store, and after using it just once
you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because
your back will never hurt or cause
any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years. Stop dragging kidneys!
They don't cause backache, because they have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain.

Hints On Winter Driving

Reading and heeding—these hints on winter driving will make you a weather-wise, happier motorist in frigid weather. They are reproduced from a bit of a booklet just issued by the United Motors Service, Incorporated, which comprises the service departments of the Delco, Klaxon and Remy organizations. Save them as they appear in these columns, learn them in substance and keep them where you can refer to them. They may help you out of trouble some cold day.

WHEN STARTING

An extremely cold motor—give it a quarter turn with the hand crank. Don't try to start engine by hand, but just help the electric cranker that much, by relieving it of the initial load due to pistons, bearings and other parts held fast in the grip of congealed oil and grease; so give the motor a quarter or perhaps a half turn by hand before you close the switch or tie the pedal.

Hold out the clutch with the left foot while you close the starter switch. You can do this wherever the cranker engages directly with the engine. If your cranker operates under these conditions you will avoid turning over the clutch and the transmission shaft and gears as well. In cold weather particularly, the oil or grease in the transmission is stiff, and it requires considerable effort for the gears to revolve in it. Relieve the cranker of this extra work by holding out the clutch. It's not a bad habit for all year 'round.

Don't grind forever—You wouldn't do it if you were cranking by hand. If the starter spins the engine, some other cause is preventing the latter from getting away under its own power. If you keep the starting switch closed indefinitely, hoping that at some revolution the engine will take hold, you may be overlooking a shut-off ignition switch, or the absence of spark or gasoline.

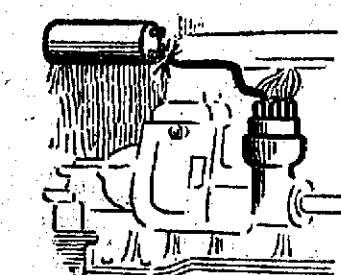

Close the throttle and open it wide, alternately. Open it a moment and then close it to allow the pumping in of air. Too much raw gas is as bad as too little—and just as hard to ignite.

A stationary "cranker" is one which won't turn over when the starter switch is closed. If the engine moves just a little—but quickly stalls—when you first close the switch, release the starter immediately. Try once or twice more to make sure of no results.

(Copyright 1918—By United Motors Service Incorporated)

The chances are your "commutator" is burned just under the brushes and that it stopped, and by moving these burned spots out from this position, the starter will usually go. This is possible if the starter gearing is exposed so that its shaft may be moved a small fraction of a turn by hand or with a screw driver. If your starter gear is enclosed so that it cannot be moved by hand do not continue closing the switch, but have the trouble corrected by an expert before further damage is done.

Clean the Bendix—Should your starter drive be of the Bendix type you will find the shaft has a thread its whole length. This should be kept clean, particularly in cold weather, when thick grease will harden and may prevent the gear moving on the shaft.

Examine the conditions—Be sure the switch makes good contact and that no wires are dropped off or are loose. Loose terminals at the battery are a very frequent cause of "no starting." These must be tight and clean. If engine turns over but fails to start, unfasten at the terminal on the coil the large single (high tension) wire which leads from the coil to the center of the "distributor" and hold it about an inch from the terminal. Have someone close the starter switch and with engine turning over a spark will jump the gap if everything is in working order. Be sure ignition switch is closed when making this test.

A burned resistance will prevent a spark at the main coil as above described. The resistance is a small coil of fine wire wound around a porcelain under the small metal cap. This cap may be either on the main coil or on the side of the distributor. If burned in two, any piece of wire may be substituted in place of it, as a temporary repair to get the motor started. It is dangerous to operate engine any length of time with this temporary arrangement. Permanent damage may be done if a proper resistance unit is not installed promptly.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Sunday being such a warm, balmy day, Curwensville ladies took advantage of it to display their new spring headgear. There was some gorgeous styles displayed as the ladies took their afternoon walk.

The whistle on Summit sole leather tannery, which has been sounded at 7 o'clock every Saturday night in order to ascertain if it was in working order, was blown last Saturday evening, the first time in a month.

Automobile owners who had their machines put away last fall expecting a severe winter, had them out on test runs Sunday. Very few of the drivers hit the country roads, however, but played around on the paved streets.

Mr. Harley and son Paul are busy putting the finishing touches of paint on a new house for Mr. Bressler on South Side.

The "woman in black" who, it was said, followed people across the river iron bridge, has ceased to create any curiosity at present, although some people still adhere to the story that they had been followed half way up the hill, and when they would turn to face her, she mysteriously disappeared.

An effort will be made shortly to reorganize the Camp Five girls. Several years ago Curwensville had a fine band of girls in this work, but of late they seem to have lost interest.

Last year a petition was presented to borough Council for the building of a foot walk onto the bridge that crosses Anderson creek, near the foot of Pine street. The petition had several hundred signers, and showed very plainly that it was dangerous for pedestrians, and especially children, to cross in summer when so many automobiles were using it, as 90 per cent. of the travel to Grampian and DuBois use this bridge. Now would be an appropriate time to do this work.

A cake walk is advertised to be held in Grange hall Thursday evening of this week. A good time is promised to all those who delight in that sort of entertainment.

Clifford McClure, of Clearfield, was a Curwensville visitor several days this week.

Under the list of appointments it is noticed that Ralph Volpe of this place has secured a good position with the State Highway people. He has been in that business for several years and has made good in every position that he has held.

One by one the soldier boys from this section are returning to their homes, having been discharged from the service. Quite a few are in service overseas, and are eagerly awaiting the time to be sent back across the pond. As one of them in a letter to the Progress man, received last week said: "The country across the Rhine is fair enough and the people where we are billeted us as well as they know how to use a doughboy, yet I will only be too glad when I can walk on good American soil again. It is a safe bet to say, however, that the Germans will only be too glad to see us depart and know that we will not be a bother to them any longer. The feeling is mutual."

This mild weather is like having a tooth pulled to the urchin who is compelled through fear of a good thrashing to attend school. Every spare minute he has outside of school is now devoted to playing marbles, and some of the boxes fixed up by those who have the gamblers' instinct are

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a pure vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days—you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

unique in the least. Every place you look morning, noon or night you can see a squad of juveniles on their knees indulging in the game. This is surely a harbinger of an early spring.

The Arnold homestead, which at one time was considered to be the finest home in Curwensville, has been cut up and altered and made into two dwellings or flats. The painters and decorators are about through with the work and within the next few weeks the house will be occupied by W. G. Lave, manager of the Bickford store, and Ed. McKinley, who is connected with the brick yard.

Several of the farmers living on the river bottom above this place were plowing last week. This time last year there was lots of snow on the ground and the earth was frozen to a depth of almost eight or ten inches.

Rev. Max Lantz left today to attend the General Central Pennsylvania conference. It is confidently expected that he will be returned to the charge here for another year.

C. S. Russell has so far recovered his health as to be able to walk about the house.

Mrs. S. C. Watts who was ill for three or four weeks, has recovered and was able to teach her Sunday school class last Sabbath.

PROFIT BY THIS

Don't Waste Another Day When you are worried by backache, by lameness and urinary disorders, don't experiment with an untried medicine. Follow Clearfield people's example. Use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's Clearfield testimony. Verity it if you wish: Mr. Paul Kline, 308 Merrill St., says: "By backache and throbbing all the time and it was particularly painful for me to bend over. The trouble kept me awake at night and I got very little rest. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at Thatcher's Drug store. Three boxes entirely removed the trouble and since that time, my back and kidneys have given me no annoyance."

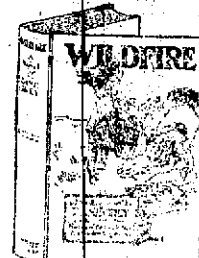

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Kline had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

WILDFIRE

By ZANE GREY

Author of

"The Rainbow Trail," "Riders of the Purple Sage," "The Border Legion," Etc.

Lin Sloane had tracked the untamed red stallion Wildfire from Utah up into Colorado, and had captured him, but he was only the nominal owner, for Lucy Bostil had won the love of this beautiful animal and had captivated the heart of the "wild-horse rider" as well. Lucy was the pride of her father's heart, having inherited his love of horses and his perfect fearlessness. One day she raced Wildfire against her father's "favorite" and won. On a later day, in another race, Wildfire saved Lucy's life against forest fire.

Like all of Zane Grey's novels, this one is straight, clean and exciting—perhaps, if possible, it is a little more thrilling than any of the others.

State will take over the road for future maintenance. In handling work under this method, however, the State Highway Department must approve the plans and specifications, advertise for proposals and oversee the construction.

William L. McCracken of Brookville, Jefferson county, wrote to the Highway Department saying that the understanding of the people of Warsaw township, that county, is that a permanent road can be built by a county only where the same connects with an improved road already constructed. In reply the Highway Department said:

"You are in error in your understanding that a State-aid road can be built only where the same connects with an improved road already constructed as this conditions applies to a borough but not to a township. It is the thought of the Department, however, to suggest that such roads be built with the thought of connecting up with main highways."

Dozens of communicants have been received relative to the improvement of the western end of the William Penn Highway from Blairsville into Pittsburgh. It was urged in these letters that early construction on this highway would relieve congestion on the Lincoln Highway. The Highway Department informed these correspondents that the proposition is having the department's best attention.

The department conveyed it thanks to Major Weaver H. Rodgers, 5850 Northumberland Avenue, Pittsburgh, for his suggestion that state, townships and other officers wear a distinctive uniform and badge clearly indicating their authority to enforce the law applying to the roads of the Commonwealth.

William Lloyd of the Coxie Stocker Sales Company of Hazelton, wrote the Highway Department relative to the maintenance proposition and in reply to his letter the Highway Commissioner made the following statement which is indicative of the future policy of the department:

"Upon the completion of construction work, we aim to keep a very careful patrol system in force, to see that every part of our roadway is kept in the best possible condition, to the limit of the funds at our disposal."

E. B. Harshaw, Cashier of the Road City National Bank, asked the department for confirmation of the rumor that Mercer County is entitled to one-fiftieth of the $50,000,000 bond issue and other money going to the department which is to be apportioned to the counties.

Replying to this letter Highway Commissioner Sadler said:

"I would state for your information that there is positively no distribution of bond issue money that can be made in the plan of constructing a main arterial system of roads for the entire state which would be equitable or practicable."

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT WEST SIDE M. E. CHURCH

On Wednesday evening, at seven thirty Mr. Charles E. Graffius, Secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., will give an illustrated lecture at the West Side M. E. church on "Our Filipino Compatriots." Mr. Graffius served in the Philippine islands with the United States army and is thoroughly capable of handling the subject. There will be ninety stereoscopic views illustrating a journey of 25,000 miles. A silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the Ladies' Missionary Society. Everybody welcome.

"HITS MY CASE," SAYS CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Adam Moore, 80 years old, Civil War veteran, last man of his company and retired from the Philadelphia and Reading R. R. after 38 years' service, who lives at 212 E. Willard St., Philadelphia, says: "I suffered from stomach trouble, poor appetite and belching gas. My sleep was badly broken and I couldn't seem to mend. I was getting discouraged when I heard about a man who had taken Tanlac. It hit my case, and I bought some. Now I'm getting along nicely. I recommend Tanlac because it's a good remedy to correct and soothe the troubles of indigestion and inflammation."

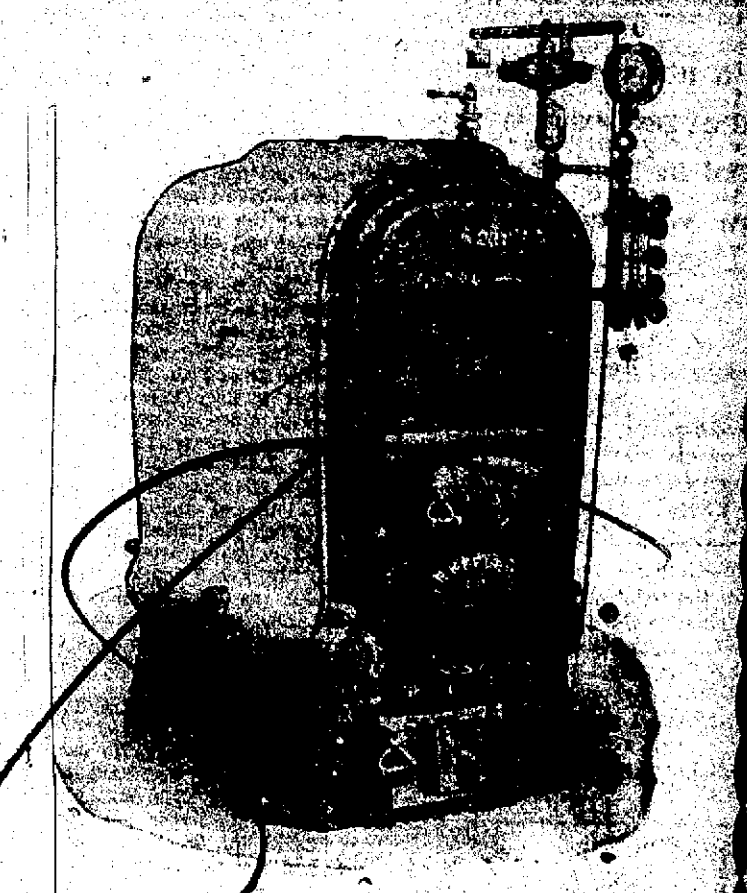

The genuine J. L. Moore Co. Tanlac is now sold here by Stewart Drug Co. and Woodward & McPherson.

Auction Sale Of Horses

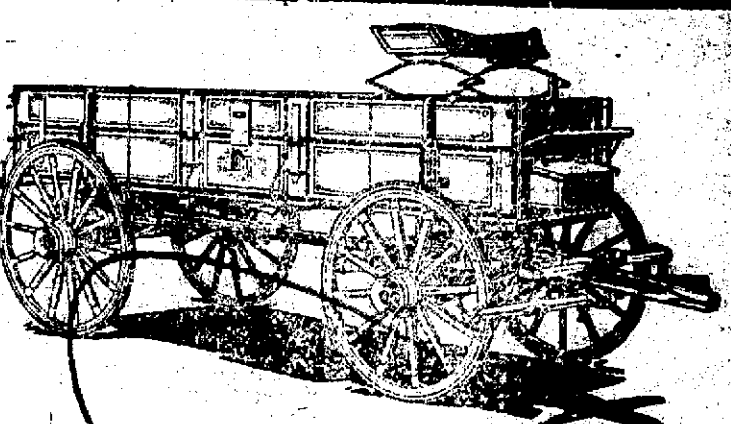

Allegheny House Barn

Friday, March 21st

A car load of heavy draft, general purpose and driving horses will be sold to the highest bidder. Horses come from Ohio where they breed and raise good horses.

Car will arrive here Thursday and you may inspect the horses before sale opens on Friday.

JOHN CARSON

Come and See the Columbus Here Are More Big Points

THE hound, hunk, skein and skein box construction will interest you. On the Columbus the bounds are of straight-grained oak; on the front gear they are of the square type, wide and roomy in the rear, to give the reach ample support in turning short. They are mortised and well braced with solidly welded steel.

Hubs are of white oak only, turned, shaped, and bored accurately for the skein boxes. Skein box is made so that a grease chamber is formed. A solid collar keeps the oil away from the wood of the hubs. Mud and sand cannot get into the axle and the skeins cannot wear into the skein boxes. That means long life and good service.

These are all reasons why you should have a Columbus wagon—that is—if you want a wagon for real work. Come in and let us show you.

SCHOOL NOTES

School closed at two thirty Wednesday on account of the death of Nathan C. Schaeffer, state superintendent of schools.

The Glee club held an important meeting after chapel. The meeting was relative to the Cantata to be given at commencement time.

WANTED—A cornet player, one who can play with ease on an active, above high C, and sit on pedal tones, especially in marches. High school orchestra.

Mr. Zerfoss talked in chapel Wednesday morning. He gave several illustrations of life in Russia and Germany showing that these countries, especially Russia, under Kerensky, were really striving for that which we have here in America.

The Basket Ball team will probably close its season Friday night, March 21, when the fast Altoona crowd plays the local team. The team has had a fairly successful season both in winning games and in a financial way.

The breeziest "Breeze" ever breezed will breeze off the press about May 15.

ANOTHER WAY OF "KILLING A CAT"

Washington, March 19—President Wilson today ordered recess appointments of nearly 200 postmasters. This is necessary because the Senate in its filibuster failed to approve the nominations of these officials, and it was necessary to fill the vacancies.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GORDON ROY

THE FISH SHOW.

"We can show them something worth looking at," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"Whom do you mean?" asked Mr. Goldfish.

"People," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"And what can we show them worth looking at?" asked Mr. Goldfish who wanted to find out everything.

"Well, the idea!" said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"Never have I known such a modest fish. We can show people ourselves. We can swim about and they can look at us. For this is a fish show you know. We're not going to live in these aquariums forever. No! We're special fishes brought to show the people how rare and wonderful and expensive and beautiful we can be."

"And so that's why we are here, is it?" asked Mr. Goldfish, looking very thin and bright and happy now.

"The very reason," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"Let me tell you that it does me watery heart good when I see society people looking at me with envy. I'll tell you a secret, Mr. Goldfish, only you mustn't tell Mrs. Goldfish for it might make her jealous and envious."

"Tell me the secret," said Mr. Goldfish, wiggling around.

"They call my color midnight blue and it's very fashionable this year. Ladies would give anything to have gowns made of the color I am."

"Doesn't it make you nervous?" asked Mr. Goldfish.

"Why?" asked Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish.

"They might try to use you."

"Oh, dear no," laughed Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish, splashing delightedly.

"They never make dresses out of fishes—never, never, never. If we had fur on us then they might, but as we haven't there is no need of worrying."

"And so you're fashionable and yet safe," said Mr. Goldfish. "Well, you are indeed fortunate."

"Add my long black tail to much admired," Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish said.

Now at the fish show there were fishes of all colors and ages and from all countries. There were fishes from Spain, Brazil, India, Java, Mexico, China, Japan and from America.

"And My Long Black Tail is Much Admired."

There were some that were as old as twenty-five years, though most of the ones considered quite old were only about eight years of age.

"I'm a famous fighter, if anyone should want to know it," said Mr. Betta Rubra Fish, from Spain.

"I like to hear it," said his brother, "for I'm a fighter too."

"We're called prize fighters where we come from," said Mr. Betta Rubra Fish.

"Maybe you are," said a fish with eyes looking upward toward the roof for there was no sky overhead.

"But," the fish continued, "I am called the Celestial fish because my big eyes look upward to the heavens."

"To the roof," said the Lion Head fish. Its head was similar to the head of a lion and also to that of a bulldog and the Lion Head fish was also very fat.

"Don't be rude," said the Celestial fish.

"We are beautiful, small and rare," said the Pebble Fish family and the Argus Fish family.

"None of us are usual, ordinary and common," said a little minnow. "Why, some folks think minnows are cheap and that there are quantities of us, so we can be gathered in by the pailful. But do you know something?"

"What?" splashed the other fishes.

"If anyone should put me in a pail—just me—all by myself without any of my sisters or brothers they would have to pay a great deal of money for me, for I'm very valuable."

"I'm worth even more," said Mr. Calico Telescope. "I'm of the most wonderful coloring."

"That's so," said the minnow, "but it is a very great thing to be an expensive minnow. There are so many cheap ones swimming around in lakes and ponds and rivers."

"Ah," said Mrs. Midnight Blue Fish. "This is a wonderful exhibition of the rare fishes that exist."

"Do we exist?" asked Mr. Goldfish.

"I thought we were swimmers. Isn't it swimming we can do?"

"That's the right word, Mr. Goldfish, but exist is another word which means to live. We live by swimming and eating. But of course as I'm fashionable I have to keep up with these words." And the other fishes splashed as they agreed.

Woman suffrage is expected to be a prominent issue in the next session of the Hawaiian legislature.

It is said that there are today in various European convents more than 30 princesses members of many of the great ruling houses of Europe, who are wearing the veils of nuns, and are spending their lives in prayer and fasting and good works.

LITTLE "JIMMY" CALLAHAN DIES

Edna Louise, the bright, winsome little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callahan passed into life eternal at the home of her parents on Reed street last evening following a week's illness of what the doctor diagnosed as tonsillitis.

"Jimmy" as all the folks in the down-town section knew the little girl, was a dear, sweet child and warmed her way into the hearts of all with whom she came in contact. She was indeed a genial favorite in the community and her passing away has left a void in many aching hearts. The sorrow-stricken parents have the sincere sympathy of all in their bereavement.
